Health Alliance of Nigeria
IMPACT | SUSTAINABILITY | VISIBILITY

“Notwithstanding the bondage of history, the future of health in Africa can be reimagined to be much better and more resilient. Public and private sector leaders, lift your gaze!”

- Dr Muhammad Ali Pate

An estimated 30 million Nigerians will be living in extreme poverty by 2030. It is clear that we need to be focused and take deliberate steps towards the betterment of Nigeria’s health systems.

PSHAN's strategic approach is based on the premise that Nigeria's dynamic and rapidly growing private sector can bring tremendous benefits to the health sector if harnessed strategically and aligned with government priorities.

The private sector must be involved and collaborate with the government to provide adequate healthcare services.

We hope that you join our mission.

PSHAN - Good Leadership in Healthcare

For many years, Nigeria's health care network has been considered one of the worst in the world.

As a result, health care professionals, leaders, and managers must focus on solutions to the core of the problem: equitable care for all and targeted steps to improve the current health care system.

With the help of private sector stakeholders and PSHAN members, we can accomplish a significant collective impact.

Fighting a Global Virus at Local Level

Based on the latest statistics, it is fair to say that Nigeria will not meet its 50% immunisation coverage goal by the end of March 2022.

We are facing some major stumbling blocks. Misinformation, poor governance and vaccine hesitancy are some of the biggest problems impeding the country's vaccination efforts.

This year, we launched two key initiatives to address these issues from the ground up. Read more about two of our core initiatives for 2022 and how you can contribute to changing the statistics.

If Not You, Who? If Not Now, When?

The pandemic has highlighted the problems within our health care system, but that is not necessarily a bad thing.

Over the past two years, the pandemic has focused attention on the health care system and the solutions to fix it. Although it is very tempting for many to ignore the problem and say, "someone else will take care of that," it's simply not true.

We have a collective responsibility to ourselves, our businesses, and our communities to do something about the state of Nigeria's health care system.
